The Full Story

Consumers are most comforted by dealing with one of the big Canadian banks and we're not sure why. Perhaps it's because they believe the money comes from a different source. In fact, the money that mortgages togo.ca secures for mortgages comes from banks, trust companies, and some of the largest mortgage corporations in Canada.

Let's go over some terms and some extremely misleading advertising by the banks.

IRD: Interest Rate Differential. Banks have posted rates and discounted rates. Here's why they have posted rates. If you obtain a bank mortgage at 3.59% and the posted rate on that same mortgage is 5.99% you pay the difference if you want out of the mortgage. Could be $50,000 or much more forcing you to stay with the bank. That's an Interest Rate Differential. Most bank employees have never heard of it.

Re-advance clause. All bank mortgages now have a re-advance clause authorizing the bank to register, on title, 100% to 125% of your home value. Even if you have a $150,000 mortgage on a $300,000 home the bank will register $300,000 or more. Going forward you cannot borrow money on your home without your bank's permission. By controlling your home the bank controls you.

Term and amortization: The banks are advertising that you can own your home sooner suggesting that the term of the mortgage matches the amortization period and that is simply untrue. You may have a 25 year amortization and theoretically if the interest rate never changed your mortgage would be paid off in 25 years. The truth is the term of the mortgage is most likely 5 years and will, most likely, reset every 5 years which, in effect, will lengthen the time it takes to pay off your home unless you make additional monthly payments or annual lump sum payments.

Mortgage Specialists: This is a person that works exclusively for the bank and sells only that bank's products. This person is not licensed to broker mortgages in any province. This person's knowledge is limited to the interest of the bank. This person is a bank employee and the furthest thing from independent.

The banks are releasing many 'Mortgage Specialists' on an unsuspecting public. The banks are also attempting to control the mortgage market with their re-advance clause and their IRD helping to explain why each big bank makes about 1.4 billion dollars every 3 months. Still, it's not enough they want more money and full control of the consumer. Look no further than Saturday and Sunday openings. They only close Christmas day because there would be little traffic in their branches.

Sincerely,

MY SON WANTS A STEAK

Last week my son Caleb and I were eating at a restaurant getting ready to order lunch. He boldly looked at me and told me that he wanted to order steak, when I asked him what he wanted to eat. He never hesitated until a mutual friend said, "Steak?" Caleb looked at me and said, "Is it ok dad?"

There are a few lessons that we can learn from this situation and I'd like to share them with you in this article:

1. Order what you want!

Life is only going to give you what you clearly want and are willing to boldly ask for. Too many people continue to go in circles with their life because they don't slow down long enough to get clear about what they wanted. If you want something, put it out there and do it with boldness. Life is too short to spend one day missing out on the things that you really want. I encourage you to cut yourself loose and start getting what you want out of life.

2. Don't apologize for what you want!

The tone of voice in our friend saying, "STEAK" rattled Caleb's confidence a little, and that is why he looked at me with hesitation and asked if it was ok to get Steak. It was a major teaching moment for me to share a principle with my son. As a dad, I'm always quick to grab teachable moments when they appear. The lesson will be shared in point number three.

3. You are WORTH what you want!

When Caleb asked me if it was ok, I looked at him with clear confidence and abundantly said, "ABSOLUTLEY!" Then said, "Caleb, you are always welcome to order what you want and are WORTH eating a steak if you want Steak. Don't worry about the price when you are with your daddy!"

This is one of the reasons that people never get what they want. They want it, but don't believe that they are worthy to have what they truly want.

4. Pay for what you want!

Of course it was the most expensive thing on the menu, but that didn't matter for many reasons. One of the reasons is that I have an "abundance" mentality, and believe that God wants us to enjoy life and actually blesses more when we are willing to go get it. However, there is always a price to pay when you want more. Don't ever hesitate when it comes to the price you must pay when pursuing the life of your dreams. If you want a quality marriage, family, business and life, you are going to have to pay a higher price to get it. You will have to invest more time, energy and money to get it. Pay for it friends! You got this!

5. Enjoy what you want!

For whatever reason, Caleb kept commenting that it was the best steak that he ever had in his life. I'm of the opinion that if we are going to get what we want and pay for what we want, then we should enjoy it without guilt or second thoughts. God wants you happy! It's ok to enjoy the blessings of God! Enjoy your family, friends and all the blessings that God has given you. Go on a vacation and ENJOY it. Build your dream house and ENJOY it! Life is too short to feel guilty about happiness and God's blessings!

Thank you for reading my friends. Go get a nice steak and don't think twice about getting what you want out of life!

Premier Fiddles While Alberta Jobs Burn

The NDP government has chosen to call a by-election at the same time as a federal election is in full swing. The vote is on September 3 – the day before the last long weekend of summer. Premier's strategy is clearly to have a low voter turnout in hopes of making a good showing while possibly losing.

Whose interest does this serve? In the spring session of the Legislature, the NDP outlawed corporate and union donations, but did not make it illegal for unions to pay people to campaign full time for the NDP on the union's dime. The NDP has given itself a two-for-one deal on paid campaigners, able to campaign for the federal and Alberta NDP while Alberta's critical and real interests – jobs and the economy – wait until after the federal election.

Meanwhile Alberta Employment Insurance (EI) applications are skyrocketing, and the NDP government's response to these job losses – and Alberta families – is to switch to a "low-carbon, information-based economy." The NDP government seems willing to sacrifice your job and your kids' future in hopes of becoming Silicon Valley north. There is no way of knowing if this can work or how many decades it will take. Our PC team will not sit silently by while this happens.

Please join us in calling for the NDP government to save jobs by giving industry stability on royalties, regulations, and rules and by rolling back the corporate tax increase which has already caused jobs to be exported out of Alberta. PC MLAs will keep fighting to save your jobs by maintaining the legislative framework that has given Alberta high wages, high living standards, low unemployment and an abundance of opportunities for our young people for decades. With your help we may be able to make a positive difference. Please join us in this important effort. Your own job may depend upon it.

Ask The Experts®
on Dentistry

Dr. Chabaylo

We as dentists have as a cornerstone a basic tenet; prevention. Yes boring I know but why?? Dental disease is progressive! So if you wait until YOU know there is a problem, guess what.....the problem is likely major and that is my experience.

I am probably a little different from you in that I take maintenance recommendations with a grain of salt. If I could use the automobile analogy, I certainly don't follow the 'manufacturer's recommended maintenance schedule', rather using my own version of a repair schedule. I take my truck in for regular fluid and filter changes using the built in monitor as my guide. I figure those professional truck jockeys can spot something before I will because they have more training and knowledge than I do, and I take their recommendations seriously, but under advisement. I am lucky on many accounts as fiddling with cars and trucks is one of my hobbies, and I have many friends with the same interest, so I feel comfortable with making maintenance and repair decisions different from what is 'recommended'. But it is all information isn't it? If on your next oil change say at a different location, the same issue was spotted, you may be more motivated to spend money on a repair. Because mechanical things like vehicles in this example, are not different from our bodies. Issues rarely get better with time, but definitely get worse, translate more expensive and final.

So if I can tie this together, my life as a dental professional would be fairly mundane if everyone followed just a minimum of preventative maintenance. I don't care if I see my patients every year, or every two or three years as long as they are seeing somebody like a dental hygienist on a yearly basis, who as a trained professional auxiliary, can give patients at least an indication of early problems. As above, information is the key. What you do with that information may mean the difference between a simple procedure in my chair versus a more serious and expensive alternative. Remember we only get one set of teeth and we haven't learned to grow new ones just yet.

AT DENT CLINIC WE FOLLOW THESE STEPS: FOR A COMPLETE PDR ESTIMATE

1. Count the number of dents on each panel.

A clean vehicle and proper lighting can reduce the error rate by up to 50%
Check for aluminium and composite (polymer) panels - use a small magnet
An accurate dent count greatly reduces claim revisions
Size matters, dents larger than "loonie" size cost 3-5x more than regular dents

2. Identify damaged door mouldings, appliques and roof mouldings.

3. Include time to remove and replace mouldings, headliner at standard labour rates.

4. Note: Panel access fee covers general vehicle access, shop materials, etc.

5. SAVE THE HOOD - Reduces waste and overall repair time.

DENT Clinic can often repair damage without replacing protective plastic films (ex:3M).

6. Estimated average repair time is 2-4 days.

Hail Damage Did you know?

Hail Damage is a comprehensive claim and does NOT affect your insurance rates.

We don't fill hail damage with costly filler and paint – we get dents out, and preserve your vehicle's original finish. Your vehicle will look like it did before the storm!

Dent Repair

It's what we do best. During the process, our skilled technicians access the back of each panel. We use specialized, proprietary tools to massage out the dents.

- Dents can be removed in hours
- No colour matching required
- More affordable than a body shop
- Environmentally friendly
- Service is guaranteed for the life of your vehicle

Well, it happened. Once again, major hailstorms have swept through Central Alberta, some leaving massive amounts of damage behind.

Make sure to check with your insurance company on the options that are available to you for repairs to your vehicle. Depending on the severity of the damage, your repair may be able to be completed by a company such as ours using Paintless Dent Repair (PDR), it may require conventional body shop repair, or it may have to be written off. Your insurance company Experts® will be able to provide that information to you.

If PDR is a viable option for your repairs, Dent Clinic can provide you and your insurance company with a FREE detailed repair estimate, arrange for a completion date, and handle all of the paperwork with them.

We're in our 20th year serving Red Deer's vehicle repair needs for hail, door dings, and minor dents. Drop in any time and we'll be happy to answer your questions! You can also call 403-340-3177 or visit our website at www.dentclinic.com.

How can I find a good carpet cleaner?

For some it is a better kept secret than how the caramel gets in the Caramilk, so here's the real truth about carpet cleaners in North America. Since there are no provincial/state standards or regulations in the cleaning industry, virtually all the cleaners learn their skill set at your expense. The cleaner only has to lease equipment, since buying is no longer a prerequisite for business, and the vendor will offer turn-key instruction on how to be a "professional cleaner." Additionally, some store-front organizations in Canada offer 1 or 2 day crash cleaning courses and then issue a "certificate of accreditation." Either way, there's no real guarantee of expertise or quality. However, at Mancuso's we have only fully apprenticed and professionally trained staff that received their 4000-plus hours in theory and supervised practicum out of a fully modern cleaning plant. Expert instruction in the make-up and cleaning of textiles (carpets, area rugs and upholstery) is taught, and all staff are fully proficient in cleaning technologies before they represent our company in your home. So, your best bet is to look for cleaners who started their career training out of a full service cleaning plant.

FINDING THE BEST HOT TUB FOR YOU!

So much information, so little time. A hot tub is a large purchase, because quality and standard features are so varied, now more than ever doing some home work, asking the tough questions will get you the hot tub you expect from a dealership that will help you maintain it.

A quality hot tub should provide an ultimate massage with therapeutic jets, should be easy to maintain, have 24 hour circulation and be fully insulated. Price, although very important should not be the only deciding factor when you are purchasing a large dollar item like a hot tub.

Myths

Hot tubs which do not need chemicals - EVERY hot tub requires chemicals. The combination of hot water and bacteria introduced from our bodies creates the perfect environment for bacteria growth. Are hot tubs hard to maintain - NO - if you use the BioGuard easy to follow system. Take the guess work out of spa maintenance with experts advice and product. Today's spa manufacturers are making great strides in providing system like UV-C that decrease the amount of chemical required.

Icky Spa Water - Just drain it - Ever heard that before? Why would you spend your valuable free time (not to mention the cost) just draining your hot tub every month or so, technology and proper chemical use requires a maximum of 2 drains per year!

All hot tub manufacturers are the same - you can find hot tubs being sold in most major department stores, in parking lots and malls. Is the quality the same? Definitely NOT! Information about reputable hot tub brands are available on line - if the spa you are interested in has little or no information, that may be telling you something.

Facts

A reputable dealership will have carried a brand for many years, have service technicians on staff and be very knowledgeable about a hot tubs operation and maintenance. If a sales person cannot answer your questions, there is a reason.

Sun N Fun Pool & Spa has been in Red Deer since 1962. Family owned and operated, we provided our customers with the service they deserve and expect.

Sundance Spas; known as the Clean Spa - offer a patented MicroClean filtration system, providing you with up to 4x more filtration than traditional systems. Cleaner

Life After Auto Glass Replacement

So you have just had your windshield replaced on your personal or work vehicle. Now what?

Follow these tips to get the best results following auto glass replacement

As always we recommend that cracks and chips be evaluated by qualified auto glass professionals and that any required repairs be done immediately to prevent further damage and a more costly windshield replacement in the future.

Auto glass replacement will sometimes be required after a collision, or when chips and cracks from flying debris are bad enough that the only solution is replacement. Remember that your windshield is a vital component to your vehicle's structural integrity and should be replaced whenever your safety or vehicle performance is compromised by damage.

Here are some important things drivers should pay attention to following auto glass replacement to their windshield, windows or sunroof.

Auto glass replacement Tip #1: Be patient. It may be tempting to wash that new windshield, but don't. Excessive pressures from washing to uncured sealant will result in a poor bond and your windshield will develop leaks. Give it a couple of days. Note: rain will not adversely affect the curing time.

Auto glass replacement Tip #2: Be patient (part two). Auto glass adhesive seals take a while to form. There will be a minimum amount of time before you should drive your vehicle after a windshield replacement. Your installer will give you a recommended safe drive away time, whether the install was in a shop or performed by a mobile auto glass installer.

Driving before the recommended time can cause leaks around your new window, windshield or sunroof. Following mobile auto glass repair, wait a few days before re-applying your window decals or stickers.

Auto glass replacement Tip #3: Do your own quality inspection. We suggest that all our customers do their own quality inspection. If you suspect that your new windshield is leaking, immediately contact the auto glass service you went to. A tiny cracked or leaking seal can cause a much bigger problem over time.

If you have a problem with the service, address it sooner rather than later. Since you recently paid for the service, they should fix any small issues for free. If you wait, however, you may have to pay a second time to replace auto glass on your vehicle.

Auto glass replacement Tip #4: Avoid future replacement needs. If you drive the same route every day and have had to replace the same auto glass more than once, you may want to alter your commute. There are sections of certain roads that always have more likelihood of damage, given the number of vehicles or the amount and types of debris present.

You may also want to park somewhere new if you experienced vandalism or routine auto glass damage from kids in the neighborhood.

Painless Posing..

Barb Henstridge

While teenagers across the world may adore shooting 'selfies,' many of us prefer to hide whenever a camera comes out. We are often most critical of ourselves, and this is true especially in photos. With a quick tip or two, we can take a bit of angst out of posing so that your smile will be an authentic one.

Don't turn your body squarely in front of the camera. We often know which side is our 'best side,' so position your body accordingly. Simply tilt your body at an angle and, if possible, bend your elbows so there is a bit of open space between your arm and your body. Photographers use this popular posing tip because they understand that creating pleasing portraits includes the ability to use body angles advantageously. Also, press your chin out forward just a bit. It may feel odd but it works!

Visit our studio and let us take your perfect professional portrait!
Our photographers are trained in everything from glamour portraits to families.

Ask The Experts® on Mechanics

Of course living in Fort McMurray we are subject to a unique mixture of rain and sun that produces the familiar mud and dust that provides its own set of challenges.

So along with reorganization, and the purge of the old to make room for the new - some preparation will help ensure that any driving plans go as smoothly as you envision them now.

- Read the owner's manual and follow the recommended service schedules. I know it is boring but it will provide a checklist for you so you do not miss anything important.

- Have hard starts, rough idling, stalling, etc. corrected before hot weather sets in.

- Flush and refill the cooling system (radiator) according to the service manual's recommendations. The level, condition, and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically.

- The tightness and condition of belts, clamps, and hoses should be checked by a qualified auto technician.

- Have a marginally operating air conditioner system serviced by a qualified technician to reduce the likelihood of more costly repairs.

- Change the oil and oil filter as specified in owner's manual. (Properly dispose of used oil.)

- Replace other filters (air, fuel, PCV, etc.) as recommended.

- Check the condition of tires, including the spare. Always check tire pressure when the tires are cold.

- Inspect all lights and bulbs; replace burned out bulbs.

- Replace worn wiper blades and keep plenty of washer solvent on hand to combat summer's dust and insects.

Remember that with the hard rains, mud and dust here in Fort McMurray the roads can be as slippery as any in winter and safe driving can be particularly challenging this time of year.

Follow these tips and enjoy your driving experience whether you are going across town or on that long road trip.

Choosing Your Contractor, Trade Professional or Handyperson Requires Due Diligence

The fall season can be the busiest time for home renovations, so it's often difficult to find an available and reputable contractor or tradesperson. However, homeowners should not compromise on the choice of the right person or crew to get the job done properly. When considering your project, determine what portions of the job require a contractor, a certified tradesperson or a handyperson. For example, an uncertified worker may be an ideal choice for basic construction and repairs in terms of availability, skill and cost. However, if your project involves structural, plumbing, electrical and/or HVAC (heating, ventilation & air conditioning) work, you should probably defer to the expertise of skilled trade workers or a general contractor, even if they are scarcely available. They are likely the best way to be assured of the quality of the work and that it adheres to local building codes. Regardless of your choice, it's always wise to make sure that the help you hire is fully insured for liability, theft, etc., and checks out with an industry or business association (e.g. BBB). As well, all work should be guaranteed in writing, with penalties for unsatisfactory outcomes.

TIRECRAFT

Ask The

Experts

on Tires

perform adequately in all seasons. However, these tires will never perform better than tires designed for one season. With all season tires, manufacturers have traded off some wet weather grip in order to provide some mobility in the colder winter months. Winter tires will always be safer and offer better handling than all seasons in snowy, icy, cold and wet conditions.

It's important to understand tire manufacturers make their own safety and performance assessments, and those assessments and criteria are far from uniform amongst companies. Be sure to ask us at your local Tirecraft which manufacturer and model will be best for your vehicle and local climate – don't rely solely on online reviews. Our range of all season tires features options from Firestone, Hankook, Bridgestone, General Tire, Michelin, Toyo Tire, GT Radial, Goodyear, Yokohama, and more.

All Season Tires: Available Options

Since their introduction, all season tires have evolved into two classes to meet today's car and driver needs: passenger and touring tires. Passenger tires offer a smooth ride and long mileage for every day use. Touring tires provide a nice quiet ride, improved handling capabilities and prove popular amongst luxury car owners and driving enthusiasts.

Both passenger and touring tires come in a variety of sizes and speed ratings in order to fit the wide range of makes and models of vehicles that are available today. Within the options for passenger and touring tires, not all are made equal. There are premium and budget friendly options to choose from, and of course, many differences between them during the three seasons when they perform best.

All Season Tires: Safety and Efficiency

Statistics show that only 51% of Canadians have winter tires, leaving 49% trying to make their way through a Canadian winter with all season tires. Having all season tires might seem convenient, but in many circumstances manufacturers have had to make compromises in terms of handling and traction, and a tire designed for use in the warm weather will not perform as safely in a cold climate and vice versa. For example, when the temperature dips below 7°C degrees, the compound used in an all season tire gets stiffer which results in longer braking distances even in wet conditions.

With tires, you get what you pay for and, in general, more budget-friendly options aren't likely to wear and last as well as higher quality products. When you replace worn tires with new tires, you'll clearly notice a huge improvement with braking, handling, stopping, and wet traction. Similarly, once a tire has been driven on and wears down, you'll notice changes in how your vehicle handles and performs. This is the reason why having your tires rotated is fundamental to the longevity of your tires.

Safety can also be impacted by the sticker price differences between tires. Stopping distances can be cut down substantially with premium product compared economy products, making it very important when you are purchasing tires to ask how they'll perform on your vehicle in 2, 3 or even 4 years. You'll also find that many tires offer varying degrees of fuel economy and with gas prices continually soaring, purchasing a higher quality tire can save you money at the pumps.

If you're not sure what to expect from the life of a tire or what your options are, come in to your local Tirecraft and to discuss your needs.

A NATURAL PHARMACY SPECIALIZING IN WOMEN'S HEALTH

Ask The
Experts®

on Specialty Pharmacy

Melanie Warren, RMT,MLD,TPT
Soft Goods Orthotics and Prosthetics Fitter

The people who work at Millerdale Pharmacy are truly Experts®. They are experienced in many modalities. Hold certificates as fitters in soft supports and soft good braces, specialty compression garments such as stockings and very special medical items such as breast prostheses. These caring and compassionate people not only deliver their experience seamlessly, they also lend their hearts to every individual who comes through the door.

As fitters we are touched each day by breast cancer. It evokes a truly indescribable emotion that is all encompassing. At first thought it is painful and overwhelming as I have lost loved ones dear to me to cancer. Though I need to say as tragic as it would seem I have felt many emotion related to this disease. Though I have experienced my own "lump" scare and removal, the experiences which I speak of are truly not my own.

I have been a Breast Prostheses fitter for 10 years. My Grandmother and Mother have been prostheses fitters for 35 years. Even my sisters have been a part of this family affair. There has been many tears shed in the debriefing of the days events at our dinner table for as long as I can remember.

My families business is Millerdale Pharmacy. Among the many interesting things we sell, we supply specialty medical supplies and post cancer care to the community. Many of the people who come in to our store are breast cancer survivors, sisters of survivors, mothers of survivors, husbands and friends of survivors. All uniquely touched by breast cancer. The testimonies that I find dearest to me, belong to each of these people.

The relationship that begins once the fitting room door closes takes many shapes, no pun intended. It definitely begins with trust because we become acquainted very quickly in a uniquely intimate way. After an introduction we get to the business of being measured up for a proper fitting prostheses bra. This is necessary to have a proper fitting prostheses. At some point during this soul baring situation the personal story unfolds. Every experience is different, often tearful and heart wrenching. Facing the possibility of loss, loss of life, loss of spouse, loss of breast. Can you imagine waking up tomorrow to face any of these circumstances. Many women do and will again.

Consider looking at yourself in the mirror and thinking tomorrow I'm going to lose my arm. Though an arm is not like a breast. Arguably one might say an arm is needed and serves a distinct purpose.

Though many people view themselves and are judged by their femininity. Some would feel having two breasts makes a person whole. At some point through this journey a person realizes this is part of an unfortunate circumstance. Two breasts or none, this is not all that defines them. It is part of their unique life, that makes this individual who they are.

I want to tell you the stories of these people. There are so many. Some in their early 20's, some in their 80's. Some want to tell me their story. Many wait till the end of the appointment until they feel they can trust me with their secret feelings. I have cried tears of sadness for the lovely lady whose husband left her.

I have cried tears of happiness, while my heart exploded in warmth and relief for the lady who had a wealth of support from her husband. The love of her life. Who, upon waking from her mastectomy surgery, found the most gorgeous bouquet of flowers and a letter of love and admiration at her bedside. Only then did she discover he had passed away while she was still under anaesthetic. She told me word for word, the contents of the letter which she had committed to memory. I feel a surge in my heart when ever I think of her.

My life has been touched so deeply, I wish I could tell all of their stories. The impact that the strength of these survivors has on the people they touch is profound though they would never know it. Their lives are very meaningful. They are truly a gift to all they choose to share their story with.

It is through these many experiences and ability to listen that all of Millerdale Pharmacy's Prostheses Fitters are truly Experts®.
